Remembrance Day in Barraba

Again, the Barraba community will gather to remember those servicemen and women who served their country in times of crisis.

Prime Minister Billy Hughes said at the time "Australians throughout the ages will treasure forever the memories of those glorious men to whom the Commonwealth owes so much."

We remember the sacrifice of the 66000 Australians that were killed in WW1 and those that suffered from wounds and other torments as a result of this conflict.

Today, some 108 years on from the end of the "war to end all wars" we remember all those that served to defend the freedoms that we have today.

This year's Remembrance Day Service will be held at the Railway Memorial Park (opposite O'Meara Park) as this was the place where many of our service men and women had their last view of home.

Our Service will commence at 10.50am

Back to the Bush 2026 Wraps Up

We held our annual free community event, Back to the Bush Auto Festival, on the 17th October at the Barraba RSL grounds. The festival spread over the entire area, the grounds looked amazing with the rain we had in the lead up. The cooler weather made it more inviting for people to come and to stay longer and enjoy the morning. Attendees enjoyed looking at the Show & Shine, the kids enjoyed the rides and facepainting, and everyone enjoyed the market stalls. The quality of vehicles was incredible yet again, each year we see entries we haven't seen before. Best in Show was awarded to Glenn Dewhurst with his 1978 HZ Panel Van (can't wait to see the merch next year!)

Best in Show Award

and People's Choice (which was a tight one this year!) was won by Trevor Maxwell with his 1972 HQ one tonner.

Peoples Choice Award

There were many entry categories, all winners will be on the Aircooled Assembly Inc Facebook page.

We received funding from Tamworth Regional Council's Regional Events and Marketing Support Program which went to a TV commercial on Channel 7 again this year; it aired for two weeks in the lead up and helped get word out that our event was on, attracting new people to town. Accommodation in town had lots of people stay for both Friday and Saturday nights, indicating that people are making a weekend of it. We have been striving for that for some time, and we are very excited and proud of that achievement.

The Muddy MAYhem display was a hit. Speed & Chrome put together a video of Muddy MAYhem footage which was played on a tv, this helped people to see what a mudrun is (as it's often confused with a mud trial or a demolition derby – which is not at all the same) We also had colouring ins and small give aways which went over well. A few Muddy MAYhem favourites were there including John ' Jolly' Stoddard's "Mudson Hornet" and Christian & Simon's "Mississlippi" as well as cars from Moonshine Car Club, Bomb Squad Car Club and Aircooled Assembly Inc and members of Sinners Car Club and CrossRoads Car Club.

Presentation saw all the trophies handed out to proud winners. The raffle winners were also drawn with thanks to Stock & Crop, Bearfast, Repco and AM Lines for donating the prizes. The silent auction winners were also announced – thank you Bigbore Industries and Crock Rodz Australia for donating the items. Gentle rain set in about 2.30pm when The Cartoon Hero's played but faded away soon after Rock City Rock commenced, just after 6pm, followed by crowd favourites Chicken Liquor on stage. The weather was quite cool by this time, but many people still come to enjoy the classic rock music, kids playing happily and the adults enjoyed catching up with family and friends. Chicken Liquor did their countdown to the fireworks and Inland Fireworks nailed the timing perfectly, the display was a little extra to last year and was thoroughly enjoyed. We continue to get comments from people each year - "This year was the first time I was able to make it to the music and fireworks - they are the best I've ever seen! I won't be missing them next year!"

The colouring in competition, sponsored by Queen Street Café, was won by Emma Kenny, Tillie Kenny, Siobhan Derrick, Hailey McIllrick, Emily Jones, LJ Self, Chastity Eddington and Maeve York.

Aircooled Assembly Inc would like to thank the sponsors who made the event possible, especially with the challenges the club saw this year, your support really kept us going. A huge thanks to the attendees, the helpers and the supporters that made Back to the Bush 2026 another great free community event, your support made all the difference. Along with the support of the Barraba community and surrounding areas, the raffle on the day, silent auctions, merchandise sales and the support of our monthly raffles (held the 1st Sunday of each month at the RSL) this event has grown and is being enjoyed by more and more people each year.

Next up for the Aircooled Assembly Inc will be our annual lolly run and Christmas Light Competition. The lolly run and Christmas Light winner announcement is scheduled to happen on the evening of Saturday 19th December, 2026.

STATEMENT FROM KEVIN ANDERSON MP MEMBER FOR TAMWORTH

Labor's Gun Buyback and Tamworth Country Music Festival

The Minns Labor Government has made the decision to delay the commencement of the gun buyback in Tamworth to the 8th of February.

It was originally scheduled to start on the 18th of January in the middle of the Tamworth Country Mustic Festival. I raised concerns with the government, and it has now been changed. All available police, including the additional police that are allocated to our region for Festival, will be on the streets on duty, not waiting at the police station for people to surrender their guns. The last thing police need during that time is the added administrative burden of handling a buyback.

I'm grateful that the Minister heard my concerns and changed the date in Tamworth. I've always said I'll work with anyone to get a result for our community, and I'm relieved that the government has listened on this occasion.

History Notes

Schools that existed in the early 20th century

Mayvale School

Situation: near Mayvale Homestead?

The original Mayvale School was built in 1912 by Mr. William Anderson and Mr. Jack Carter. The building was originally Mr. William Etheridge's homestead situated south-west of Mayvale homestead on 1280-acre homestead selection block.

It was pulled down at weekends and carted down by horse wagon by Will Anderson who was Teamster there at that time. It consisted of one long room, two windows and one door with a mud and stone chimney. It was built of slabs with a tin roof. The slabs were wide enough for a window to be cut out of them – one each side of the building.

The first teacher at the school was Miss Forster, very strict. The pupils were Leslie Hill, Jack Hill, Constance Hill, Mona Hill, Jack Anderson, Phyllis Anderson, Betty Anderson, Clifford Curtis, Arthur Curtis, Flora Curtis, Arthur Potter, George Potter, Phyllis Carter and Edna Carter, Fred Drew, Gladys and John Drew.

The school opened and closed for 7 years, eventually closing permanently in 1925.

The teachers were in order:
Miss Forster
Miss Clark
Miss Richardson
Mr. A.A. Kelly who was a first World War Soldier also at the landing of Gallipoli
Mr. Hill of Newcastle
Miss M. O'Regan

Mayvale School was known as Mayvale High School as it was built on the side of a steep hill.

Currangandi Subsidy School 1900 - 1924

Situation: Currangandi – Doorah area.

When Mr Mervyn Foster was 5 years old and his sister 8 years old, their father went to work for a Mr Govett (early 1900) at Currangandi. They lived in a cottage just opposite Rawdon McDouall's present home and went to school at a school house on Jack O'Brien's place (it stood somewhere near Rawdon McDouall's house) where the children were given some schooling when the governesses would stop for any length of time (as loneliness caused them to go after a short stay).
The school house was a separate building. Children who went were:
Merv and Mavis Foster

Paddy O'Brien family:	Jack O'Brien family:
Florence	Lionel
Ernie	Clem
Erbin	Vince
Kevin	Agnes
Rita (82 yrs-1980)	Madge

(? Lee family could have gone also)

Below is an overview of outcomes from TRC Ordinary Meeting of Tamworth Regional Council Tuesday 27 October 2026.

- The Draft Tamworth Water Security Plan will be placed on public exhibition after Councillors considered the document this week. The draft plan explores a range of factors relating to water security of Tamworth, Moonbi and Kootingal including available water sources, local water demand, infrastructure options, and the implementation of a preferred solution.
- Councillors agreed to write to the NSW Water Minister, NSW Shadow Minister for Water, NSW Greens Water Spokesperson and the Member for Tamworth seeking support to secure the necessary approvals for the long-term operation of the Chaffey Dam Pipeline. The pipeline was originally built to support water supply to Tamworth, Kootingal and Moonbi in times of drought when Chaffey Dam drops below 20 per cent capacity. Council will advocate the pipeline remains an important component of local water security and the development of an operational plan to facilitate regular maintenance and more frequent use outside drought conditions to reduce in stream losses from the Peel River and improve local water security.
- To help protect the landscapes that shape the identity, character, cultural heritage, and environmental, social, and economic values of the region, Council staff have developed the Tamworth Regional Landscape Values Strategy. Informed by targeted stakeholder engagement, Councillors tonight voted to place the draft strategy on public exhibition next month to seek feedback from the broader community.
- Councillors tonight adopted the Tamworth Regional Section 7.12 Development Contributions Plan 2026. Following public exhibition, amendments were made to strengthen the plan, including additional infrastructure projects, administrative provisions, and an exemption for secondary dwellings to support housing affordability and supply. The new plan will provide a streamlined framework for funding roads, active transport, community facilities, parks, and recreation infrastructure across the Tamworth region.
- To support future housing growth, Councillors tonight endorsed a proponent-led planning proposal to amend the Tamworth Regional Local Environmental Plan 2010 (TRLEP 2010) for Stage 1 of Bellevue Estate at Warral and Kingswood. The proposal will also form the first phase of the Southern Gateway Activation Precinct and seeks to rezone approximately 208 hectares of land for large lot residential development, paving the way for around 380 new residential lots. The proposal will now be submitted to the NSW Department of Planning, Housing and Infrastructure for Gateway Determination, with community consultation and public exhibition to be undertaken as part of the next stage of the planning process.
- Councillors tonight voted to place the draft Tamworth Regional Renewable Energy Contributions Policy and accompanying Renewable Energy Positions and Expectations document on public exhibition for 28 days. The draft policy proposes a 25% increase on the NSW Government's baseline contribution rates, with annual benchmarks of $1,062.50 per megawatt (MW) for solar, $1,312.50 per MW for wind, and $1,062.50 per MW or $187.50 per megawatt hour (MWh) for battery storage. It also retains Council's aspirational target of 1.5% of a project's capital investment value and proposes additional contributions for First Nations-led initiatives. The accompanying document outlines Council's expectations for responsible project planning, community consultation, management of local impacts and lasting regional benefits. Community feedback on both documents will be considered before they return to Council for potential adoption.
- Councillors approved the public exhibition of the Draft Tamworth Regional Airport Master Plan 2026. The community will be able to leave feedback on the draft master plan from October 28 for a period of 28 days. The draft plan has been prepared to provide a strategic framework for the future development, operation, and protection of Tamworth Regional Airport for the next 20 years. The master plan was drafted following technical investigations, aviation forecasting, and an extensive stakeholder and community engagement program. Feedback from the public exhibition will be considered before a final policy is presented to Council for adoption at a later date.
- Councillors tonight approved changes to the upcoming delegation to Japan and Singapore, following the Mayor's advice that he is unable to attend. Deputy Mayor Budd will represent the Mayor during the visit, with Cr Sharpham appointed as a delegate to continue strengthening Council's long-standing Sister City relationship with Sannohe and key aviation partnerships in Singapore.

RENEWED PUSH FOR TAMWORTH DETOX CENTRE

The campaign to repurpose the old Banksia Mental Health Unit as a drug and alcohol detoxification and recovery centre is continuing. Member for Tamworth Kevin Anderson said the government has now responded to a petition from 2,462 local advocates calling on the government to retain the facility and provide the funds necessary to refurbish it. “People across our region are deeply concerned about the lack of inpatient services and the impact drug and alcohol addiction is having on the wider community,” Mr Anderson said. “That’s why our community put forward a petition to repurpose the Banksia Mental Health Unit as a drug and alcohol detoxification unit when it becomes available.” The government has now responded to the petition advising that the ‘future use of the former Banksia building has not yet been determined’, and that once the facility is vacant ‘the former Banksia site can be assessed and options for its future considered.’

“This needs to be a top priority for the Government and when this building becomes vacant, the best option for it is to set up as drug and alcohol detoxification and recovery centre. The community is demanding it,” Mr Anderson added. “I have a strong plan for the old Banksia unit which involves a partnership between government and a non-government organisation where government provides the funding for upgrades, and a non-government organisation operates the facility. The plan makes good sense. I am continuing to work with the State Government, local advocates, clinicians, health care professionals and those with lived experience to build the case. This is too important an opportunity to miss, and I’ll continue to work with the government to deliver the services we need.”

Each prize will include a Steggles shop voucher, generously donated by Carols in the Park major naming sponsor, Baiada Poultry.

Baiada returns as the event's major naming sponsor and has once again selected Ronald McDonald House and the Westpac Rescue Helicopter Service as the event's official charities. Attendees can show their support by purchasing a battery-operated candle or enjoying a delicious sausage sizzle, with proceeds helping these important organisations continue their vital work. “For more than 60 years, Baiada has been proud to be part of the Tamworth community which is why supporting the people and families who live, and work here remains incredibly important to us. We’re delighted to return as the naming sponsor of Baiada Carols in the Park in 2026, bringing the community together to celebrate the festive season while giving back to a community that has played such a special part of our story,” said Yash Gandhi, Head of Marketing at Baiada Poultry.

RAW FOOD.
KNOW THE RISK.

7th-14th NOVEMBER
Australian Food Safety Week

Australian Food Safety Week will be held from 7 to 14 November 2026, encouraging Australians to take simple steps to reduce their risk of food poisoning.

Organised by the Food Safety Information Council, the annual awareness campaign promotes safe food handling and preparation practices, both at home and in the workplace.

This year's theme, Raw Food – Know the Risk, highlights the potential dangers of eating raw or minimally cooked foods, which can increase the risk of food poisoning and parasitic infections, including toxoplasmosis.

Understanding these risks is an important part of developing good food safety practices. Whether preparing meals at home or working in a commercial kitchen, knowing how to handle, prepare and cook food safely helps protect ourselves and others.

As part of this year's campaign, the Food Safety Information Council is sharing practical advice to help Australians reduce their risk of foodborne illness.

Cook food to a safe temperature

The Food Safety Information Council recommends the following cooking temperatures, measured at the centre of the food:

- Beef, lamb and kangaroo: Whole cuts, including chops, steaks and roasts, should reach at least 63°C (medium rare) and rest for 3–5 minutes.
- Pork: Steaks and pieces should reach 70°C, while roasts should reach between 70°C and 75°C, followed by 3–5 minutes of resting.
- Sausages, mince, poultry, rolled roasts, liver and other offal: Cook to 75°C.
- Reheated leftovers: Heat to 75°C.
- Fish fillets: Cook to 63°C or until the flesh flakes easily.
- Eggs and egg dishes: Cook to 72°C, or until the egg white is firm and the yolk has thickened.

Using a digital meat thermometer is one of the most reliable ways to check that food has reached a safe internal temperature.

To test your knowledge about safe food handling and preparation, visit the Food Safety Information Council to try their online food safety quiz.

Don't forget fresh produce and food handling

Raw fruit and vegetables, including salad ingredients, can also carry harmful microorganisms. Always wash fresh produce thoroughly under running water before eating or preparing it.

Good hand hygiene is equally important. Wash your hands before handling food and after handling raw meat, poultry or eggs to help prevent cross-contamination.

Building food safety knowledge and skills

Community College Northern Inland (CCNI) recognises Australian Food Safety Week and the important role education and training play in preventing foodborne illness.

CCNI hospitality trainer Brodie Smith says good food safety practices are essential for protecting customers and maintaining confidence in businesses that prepare and serve food.

"Food safety is important because it keeps us and our customers safe from food poisoning and other potential dangers," Brodie said. "We can prevent food contamination by following food safety guidelines, maintaining good hygiene and keeping our food preparation areas clean."

Brodie believes education has an important role in developing safe food handling practices, both in the workplace and throughout the wider community.

"Food Safety Week is also important because it raises awareness in our community and workplaces, reminding everyone that we all have a responsibility to work together as a team to keep food safe."

CCNI offers food safety training for people working in hospitality and food service environments, as well as those looking to develop skills for employment in these industries. Visit www.ccni.nsw.edu.au/food-safety-courses/ to enrol.
